

NEW DIRECTOR JOINS EDUCARE

We are delighted to have Danielle Webb join us as the Director of Partnerships and Programs. Bringing extensive experience in early childhood education and family engagement, we look forward to having her passion and commitment at Educare.

The moment I walked into the Educare building, I knew it was where I wanted to be. It's an honor to be a part of the innovative work that takes place here and I'm excited for what the future holds.

HEALTHY FAMILIES = HEALTHY CHILDREN

Nurturing health and wellness at a young age leads to lifelong improved health outcomes. We work with Veggielution for weekly farm boxes, San Jose Bridge Communities for cooking classes, and Garden Play Project for gardening classes. We support children and families in connecting to food, accessing culturally-relevant healthy produce, and engaging with the natural environment while spending quality time together.

LINGERING IMPACTS OF THE PANDEMIC

Families in Santee are experiencing lasting social-emotional and economic impacts from the Pandemic. Beyond our nurturing classrooms, we continue to provide basic need support (e.g. rental assistance, food, essential supplies) at pandemic levels. From fresh produce, groceries and prepared meals, to parenting classes, to community events and referrals, Educare is fostering the health and wellbeing of children, families and the broader Santee community.
